FARMHOUSE PLANS FOR HOME BUILDERS

Recently about 16 States cooperated with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in developing house plans suited to farms in their own regions. From the plans assembled, 40 of the most representative were selected for illustrations in a Farmers' Bulletin published by the Department, No. 1738-F. The bulletin shows sketches and floor plans. Most of the plans are for low-cost houses, and many are for small houses. There are a few two-story dwellings and the idea of the "growing" house is featured in 15 of the house plans.

_____, State (extension agricultural engineer, home-management specialist, or college of engineering) has sets of the plans that suit _____ conditions best. Blue prints of the working drawings which show the essential details and dimensions necessary for actual construction may be obtained for the cost of printing and handling.
